Professor Karen Tucker is a native of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania and is an avid Pittsburgh Steelers football fan. She is a product of Christian education (1st grade through college), and she is an alum of Oakwood College (now Oakwood University) and Alabama A&M University (graduate studies).

She has been a dedicated teacher at Oakwood University in the English Department for over 30 years. She considers her many years of teaching not just as a profession but as a ministry. She not only believes that teaching English at an HBCU is a privilege but an opportunity to Help Build Character Ultimately (HBCU) in her students.

She loves the Lord, her family, Oakwood and her students.