Oakwood University Maintains Normal Operations

March 12, 2020 - The highest priority for Oakwood University is the health and safety of all students, faculty and staff. The University will continue to update all constituents as the coronavirus response team monitors the rapidly evolving situation related to the spread of COVID-19. University preparations are in alignment with the guidance of multiple agencies the WHO, CDC, Alabama Department of Public Health and the Madison County Department of Public Health.

In response to the situation across the nation Oakwood has suspended all university sponsored international and domestic travel. The University is currently testing all systems to ensure that academic continuity is maintained in the event of a disruption. Testing our systems includes piloting the transfer of traditional face to face courses to an online platform. This is currently being implemented in a limited number of courses and the participating students and faculty have been notified. All other course offerings will continue as normal and students should report to classes, until further notice. Updates will be shared on D2L, text, email and posted online as new information becomes available on the Oakwood University website:
